

However, what you see in 'others' is actually a reflection of your own belief system.

In the context of what you have learned so far, try and think of a circumstance where you do not think you are viewing your own beliefs in action.

You may recall from Module 5 that in the state of consciousness called 'ego', you create your 'personal' experiences.

Therefore, under normal circumstances, it is impossible to see someone else's 'personal' experiences, just as whilst dreaming it is impossible to see someone else's 'personal' dream.

Remember that communications concerning spacetime and emotions are filtered through created states of consciousness that are called 'personality' and 'ego'.

The communications that pass through the 'ego's' belief system become your 'waking state' reality.
